

7 Students Elected to Major Offices

Rule Passed by Miller

A change in the alcoholic beverages regulation, passed by the Student-Faculty Relations Committee, has been approved by President G. Tyler Miller. The rule that "any first semester freshman student is prohibited from drinking at any time while under college jurisdiction" (page 49, Student Handbook), will be omitted from the Handbook, effective September, 1968.

The Administration Council, which is composed primarily of faculty members, reworked automobile regulations and sent them to the Student-Faculty Relations Committee for further suggestions. President Miller approved the suggestion for a car registration fee of $30 per session for boarding students who are eligible to have cars on campus.

No major changes were made in dormitory regulations, though many rules were reworded for clarification.

Standards has sent several dress revisions to the President for approval. Smoking regulations are also being revised and will be submitted later for approval.

The Town and Community Committee is working to get additional laundry facilities for students, and to get more mail boxes placed around campus.

M. J. Williamson is heading the Bad Check Committee. The purpose of the committee is to work with the local merchants so that it will be easier for students to cash checks in town.

Student Auditions Announced

Dr. G. Jean Shaw, Associate Professor of Music at Madison College, announces the Second Valley District Student Auditions sponsored by the Virginia Music Teachers Association, to be held in Duke Hall, Saturday, March 9, from 9:30 A.M., to 12:30 P.M. Students from four age groups will be considered:

- Group I, 8-11 years
- Group II, 11-14 years
- Group III, 14-18 years
- Group IV, College students

The Valley District includes Charlottesville, Staunton, Winchester and Harrisonburg.

Performers include vocalists, pianists, orchestra and band instrumentalists. Repertoire requirements include selections from the 1) Baroque or Classic, 2) Romantic, and 3) Modern Era. The time limit for each participant will be 10 minutes. Performance should be by memory.

Judges include Dr. Gordon Ohlsson, Head of Madison College Music Department; Professor Ira Zook of Eastern Mennonite College; and Professor Olivia Cool of Bridgewater College.

Winners and runners up from each division will be presented in recital in May at Madison College. Winners will perform at the State VM-TA Convention in the Fall where the representatives from the two older groups will compete for national recognition. For further information contact Dr. Shaw, campus mail.

The following persons were elected as the Major officers to serve for 1968-69. Primaries were held on February 20 and the final elections were conducted February 27. The officers assume the duties of their respective offices at the beginning of the fourth eight week period. Newly elected officers include: Karen Anderson, President of Honor Council; Lynne Harvell, President of WAA; and Emily Hardy, Editor of the Bluestone.

SGA President

Jacqueline Weeks, Jackie, a resident of Norfolk, Virginia, has behind her a long list of services to Madison College and before her perhaps her most important job to date. Our new President of SGA is an elementary education major with a concentration in social science. In the past Jackie has worked on both the Senate and Judicial branches of SGA, is chairman of the Big Weekend Committee, and is a member of Kappa Delta Phi. Of her election she says, "I am extremely thrilled and excited that the school has honored me." But at the same time, Jackie realizes the great responsibility of holding the office of President of SGA.

Honor Council President

It was hard for Karen Anderson to describe her emotions as she received the news of her election. Karen says that she was "elated" and "really happy". However, she was somewhat "scared" during the election which placed her in office. Karen has served on the Honor Council for the past three years and was on the Elections Committee. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority. Her parents are stationed in Hawaii and Karen had the opportunity to visit the islands last summer.

WAA President

Lynne Harvell, a Health and Physical Education major, comes to her post with the experience of having been both Vice President of WAA and acting president for the eight weeks. She is "very happy" about the election and hopes to make the representation in WAA more proportionate to the student body.

Bluestone Editor

The 1969 Bluestone will be under the direction of Emily Hardy from Amelia Court House, Virginia. The Health and Physical Education major has worked on the Bluestone in the past, is a member of the Mercury Club, and has been on the WAA Council. She will choose her staff this spring and much of next year's yearbook will be planned this summer. Emily says that she is "excited about the job and especially pleased to do it".

Wake Forest Prof Named Chairman

A Wake Forest University professor of biology has recently been named chairman of the Biology Department at Madison College.

The professor is Dr. John E. Davis, Jr. who will assume his new duties at the college next September.

In announcing the appointment, President G. Tyler Miller said, "We feel we are extremely fortunate to get a man of Dr. Davis' calibre. He comes to us highly recommended by all of his associates. His experience at such an outstanding university as Wake Forest will prove valuable to our college."

Dr. Davis taught biology at Washington and Lee University upon receiving his BA, MA and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Virginia. He joined the faculty of Wake Forest as an assistant and subsequently rose to associate professor and as of last year, full professor.

As an active member of several scientific societies, the doctor remains a researcher as well as teacher. Several of his research papers have been published on such subjects as chick embryos, the effects of low level radiation on chick coronary vessels, and the effect of certain drugs on organs.

Edwards Named Editor

Beginning with the fourth eight week period, Ellen Edwards will assume the important position of Editor of the BREEZE. The new editor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Newland of McLean, Virginia, is majoring in social work with a minor in psychology. Ellen was appointed to her post by the Board of Publications for the BREEZE. She has had experience as associate editor on the staff and has worked on the paper since her freshman year. "I feel that THE BREEZE can and should be a more vital part of the campus. This will only be accomplished through the continued cooperation and support of the student body," Ellen said.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Rule Change Advocated

In view of the many rules that have recently been under revision by the SGA and the Student-Faculty Relations Committee, it seems necessary to mention the inadequate facilities set aside for guest hours of the dating centers on campus. As the rules stand now, if a woman student at Madison should have a date visit her in the middle of the week during the day, they would have little, if any place to go on campus.

According to the STUDENT HANDBOOK, the same pattern is characteristic of all the dormitories Monday through Thursday — not one of them is available as a dating center before 6 p.m. This presents an embarrassing situation for both parties involved considering that Madison College is presently regarded as a coeducational institution. It appears unfair to the students that such regulations remain intact in view of the many changes that have been taking place on campus. Something must also be done about this problem.

Is it really necessary to keep all of the dormitories closed until 6 p.m., Monday through Thursday? Would it not be possible to open at least one so that women students would have a place available on campus to entertain their dates? These are questions which the students should become familiar with and talk up among themselves. If anything is to be done about these rules in the future, it is the students who must take the first steps toward successful revision and updating.

Girl Finds No Dating Facilities Open During Day

Dear Editor:

I recently found out that there are no dating facilities (other than Alumnae Hall) available to students during the daytime during the week. A date brought me back to school, following a semester break. Since he was not leaving until noon on Thursday and I did not have classes that morning, we decided to go to a dating center. After one frustrating hour of searching for a place in a warm building (it was absolutely ridiculous to even consider staying in the car) to sit down and talk, we were forced to go to Alumnae. Alumnae's "facilities" include one TV set, one piano, two tables, and about twenty chairs. It is not fair to the students or their dates that we should be deprived of ping pong tables, stereos, Coke machines, and other less formal means of entertainment. Technically, Madison is coeducational. Why, then, can the students not enjoy coeducational privileges? Certainly, provisions can be made for other students who find themselves in the same predicament — even if only one dorm a day was opened, as a compromise.

Censorship is Way of Control

by K. Jones

One of the most detested policies of Russia and other Communist countries is censorship. It goes against the American sense of freedom to read that young Soviet intellectuals are sent to work camps for writing literature which indirectly throws a bad light on the policies or history of their fatherland. It also enrages us to know that the people are only allowed to read what the party will approve, and that what the party does approve is planted and often times false. This, a freedom loving American would pay, is a direct denial of the personal liberty of the individual.

Also In America?

Yet, here in America we are presently experiencing a related phenomenon. The American public today is trying to decide how to find out the truth about things such as the war, and the Gulf of Tonkin affair, from an administration that is called a liar by members of its own party. The American public has been fooled before, even by such sacred individuals as presidents, but they have never been confronted with that accusation in the middle of an election year, during a war. One can only judge what is happening in the war from official sources, which are controlled by the administration, and if the administration is holding something back, they are not going to be politically inept enough to admit it.

Truth or Fiction?

Have you ever wondered if the Pueblo was really outside the territorial waters of North Korea. We have been caught doing bad things before, remember the U-2 incident? What about the Gulf of Tonkin? Were we luring the North Koreans into a war? What about the thousands of Viet Cong we have killed? Where do they keep coming from? Might it be that our counts are inaccurate?

Solution... Change!

If the present administration is misleading the American public, it should be discredited and not reelected. This is a simple enough statement, but how much can an administration keep to itself? How much censorship can we allow at the source of the control? Security demands certain restrictions on information, which seems to go against the American way of life, but security demands an honest government at the same time. How do you determine whether a government is guarding America's security, or guarding the truth and releasing favorably planned reports. It is quite a problem, isn't it? However, it seems there must be a happy medium between a tell-all ineffective government and a tell-nothing dictatorship government. Maybe the Republicans can find it.

Honor Society Elects Officers

Phi Omicron Tau, the home economics honor society, has elected new officers for the 1968-69 session. The new officers are: President — Linda Snyder taking over for Carol Farley; Vice President — Barbara Ann Harris replacing Gayle Aydelotte; Secretary — Mary Margaret Winston, and Treasurer — Theo Dennison taking over for Sarah Ann Whitmore; and Reporter-Historian — Marilyn Meder replacing Bettie H. Reid.

The new officers will be installed on February 22nd at the home of Dr. Dorothy Rowe, head of the home economics department.

The Placement Office has announced the following interview schedule:

March 4—Henrico County Public Schools (Virginia) 9-4:30
March 5—Fairfax County Public Schools (Virginia) 9-4:30
March 6—Fairfax County Public Schools (Virginia) 9-3:30
March 7—Chesterfield County Public Schools (Virginia) 9-4:30
Queen Anne's County Public Schools (Maryland) 1-3
March 8—Queen Anne's County Public Schools (Maryland) 1-3

BREEZE BRIEFS

The Dating Center in Alumnae Hall will be open until 12:00 every Friday and Saturday night beginning March 1.

Lawrence Bryan, local fireman, and his associate William Humes conducted three demonstrations on our campus in the use of fire extinguishers. Forty-five girls representing each dormitory received instructions in the proper use of those types of extinguishers found in our dormitories.

The importance of not using water pressure type extinguishers on electrical or grease fires was emphasized. Plans are under way to place a CO2 or powder type extinguisher in all kitchenettes on campus not presently having them.

The Dean's Office wishes to report that the Faculty Council has a sub-committee which is reviewing our attendance policies.

The sub-committee had a recent meeting of students from all classes to express their views. Continued study is being given to this matter by the sub-committee.

WAA Tips

by Diane Hillman

The women's basketball first team won its last two games. The first was a victory over Hollins College, 57-25 and the second was over Longwood College 45-38. High scorers for both games were Beverly Burnett and Chris Shelton. The second team beat Hollins College 21-10 and lost to Longwood 22-21. The high scorers in the game against Hollins College were Sandy Mitchell and Carolyn Cook. The high scorer in the game against Longwood College was Sandy Mitchell.

Student Awarded Fellowship at Rice

A Madison College senior has been awarded a $4000 fellowship to work toward a master's degree in German at Rice University, in Houston, Texas.

He is Robert Lantz of Rt. 1, Broadway, who will begin his work at the university in the fall. While majoring in German at Madison, he has been in charge of laboratory observations on a part-time basis under a student scholarship.

Lantz will teach one class and have one language laboratory observation at Rice. He is also an alternate to receive a National Defense Education Association fellowship.

In informing Lantz of his award, a Rice official described it as "one of our finest."

At Madison, he has been named to the Dean's List three times and is president of Kappa Delta Pi, an education honor society.

Theodore on Floating Campus

by A. B. Norton

One of the newest innovations for American colleges is the floating campus. A complete liberal arts college is contained on board a ship which tours the world while holding classes. On board such a unique vessel was Dr. Crystal Theodore, head of the Art Department at Madison.

Dr. Theodore was a visiting professor on the faculty of Chapman College, Orange, California, and taught in the Seven Seas Program. The program consisted of a round-the-world educational cruise aboard Holland-America Line's S. S. Ryndam.

Every facility usually present on an average college campus (and a little extra too—air conditioning!) was to be found on board the Ryndam. The ship was comfortably equipped with library, labs, bookstore, 280-seat theatre, hospital, dining rooms and lounges, just to name a few.

Students on board the floating campus attended classes while at sea and then put their newly acquired knowledge to use while exploring the various sea ports en route. Departure took place in October from New York and the itinerary went as follows: Lisbon, Cadiz, Casablanca, Durban, Mombasa, Kenya, Bombay, Kuala Lumpur, Bangkok, Hong Kong, Honolulu, and Los Angeles.

One of the most fascinating places on the tour, says Dr. Theodore, was the stop made in Bangkok, although each port proved interesting and varied for both professors and students alike.

Students who wish additional information about the floating campus are urged to contact Dr. Theodore.

Scholar to Lecture on Politics

Harold D. Lasswell will be the Visiting Scholar at Madison on Wednesday, March 13. The noted professor of law and political science at Yale University will speak on the topic "Analyzing Personality in Politics" in Duke Auditorium at 2:00.

Lasswell has previously held positions at Syracuse University, Yenching University, and the University of California. His professional activities include membership in the World and American Academy of Arts and Sciences and Presidency of the American Political Science Association, 1955-56. Such works as Democracy Through Public Opinion, National Security and Individual Freedom and World Revolution of Our Time were written by Professor Lasswell, who has also scheduled lectures at Old Dominion College, William and Mary, and Virginia Military Institute.

Shaw to Attend MENC Convention

Dr. G. Jean Shaw, Associate Professor of Music, plans to attend the National Convention of the Music Educators National Conference (MENC) and the American String Teachers Association (ASTA) in Seattle, Washington, March 14-19. As ASTA National Membership Chairman, she will have responsibilities for reports in special board meetings. Dr. Howard Van Sickle, President of ASTA, appointed Miss Shaw to the position of Chairman of the AST Southeast Regional Conference (representing 6 state units) to be held August 11-17 at Elon College, North Carolina. In addition, she will serve as cello clinician and master teacher at this conference. As Chairman of the Valley District of VMTA, (Virginia Music Teachers Association) Dr. Shaw has planned the student auditions for March 9, at Madison College and a special winner's concert scheduled for May on campus.

Her recent publications include music reviews for the Harrisonburg Daily News Record and the American String Teacher, Fall 1967 and Winter 1968; two articles in the Instrumentalist: "Getting a Good Tone from Beginning Strings," August 1967; "Building a Beginning String Program," January 1968; and "A Comparative Study of Eighteenth Century Violoncello Sonata Literature from Italy, England, France, and Germany; A Preliminary Report," in Studies and Research Bulletin, Madison College, March 1968. Dr. Shaw is presently editor of the state string newsletter, VASTA FINGERBOARD. In addition, she is listed in Who's Who in American Education; 23rd edition, 1967-68.

February 27 Dr. Shaw presented a special lecture, "String Education; Resources and Materials," for the String Class at Bridgewater College. March 13th, Dr. Shaw will join Helen Ininger in a lecture-recital, "The Origin and Growth of the Character Piece for Piano; A Matter of Style and Interpretation."

Geneva Players to Stage Play

March 16, at 8 o'clock in the Anthony-Seeger Campus School Auditorium, the Geneva Players from Wyckoff, N. J. will present Darius Swann's "Circle Beyond Fear." The Religious Drama House Church of the Trinity Presbyterian Church is sponsoring this group in order to share their concerns with others about the need for religious drama in the church.

The Geneva Players is a church affiliated group from the Wyckoff Reformed Church and is composed of young people of high school age under the leadership of the Rev. Douglas C. Smith and Norma Johnston. The chancel drama company is only part of the total Geneva Players whose purpose is to use the stage as a "second pulpit" and to present their views of contemporary issues through the medium of drama.

The Religious Drama House Church is extending an invitation to everyone to attend this one special and unique performance and not to miss the impact which this drama and group will have upon you.

Dukes Defeated by EMC 90-89

by J. Heerlein

The Dukes basketball team ended their season on February 23 with an away game at Eastern Mennonite College. They lost the game, 90-89 in overtime, which seemed to be characteristic of the hard luck which has plagued them throughout the second half of the year. Before semester break, they were playing better than .500 ball with a 5-4 record. Unfortunately, over the second half of the season, they dropped off to a 1-6 record, losing their last four games by a combined total of 16 points. (Bluefield by 7, Wytheville by 2, George Mason by 6, and EMC by 1 in overtime.)

Although the Dukes were defeated by EMC in their final game, this appeared to be their best effort of the year. After losing to them earlier in the season, 79-55, the Dukes managed to stay with their opponents and exchange the lead with the Mennonites through the opening of the first half. Gradually, Madison gained control of the game midway through the first half, and held a slim advantage at the half, 41-36, mainly through the efforts of Bob Hummer, Randy Rudolph, and Emmett Hanger.

The second half brought a turn of events that put EMC ahead in the lead as they broke loose for seven straight points before Madison could get on the scoreboard. The Dukes managed to remain within reach of their opponents and finally took the lead with less than a minute remaining in the game. However, EMC managed to score the final basket in the regulation game to tie the score at 81-81.

In the overtime period, EMC jumped into a strong lead and held it by seven points with less than a minute remaining in the overtime. The Dukes managed to struggle back to within one point with Bob Hummer tapping in a last second shot, but it wasn't enough. Time had run out for the team and they found themselves on the losing end of a dramatic cliff-hanger.

The entire starting team ended up scoring in double figures. Randy Rudolph led the scorers with 22 points, while Bob Hummer and Emmett Hanger chipped in with 20 points each. Guards Houston Dickenson and Bob Toohey also added 17 and 10 points respectively, to round out the scoring. Madison was especially effective from the foul line, hitting on 15-20 attempts. Emmett Hanger had more than half of these, making good on 8-11 shots, many of which came at crucial points in the waning minutes of the game. Bob Hummer played another superb defensive game holding EMC scoring star Rick Yoder to 16 points, most of which were tap-ins under the basket. Both Dickenson and Toohey kept Madison in the game by making key baskets and ball thefts which enabled the Dukes to pull within reach of EMC, but it was not enough to pull out a victory for them.

All in all, this season proved to be one of much success, considering Madison's showing in the past years. With no member of the team graduating this year, prospects are looking up for next year with hopes of another successful and hopefully winning season.
